Murder mystery in the clouds

Flight Murder is the most fun English-spoken murder mystery game in the Netherlands and Belgium. An exciting and original, yet affordable way to make a success of your company outing, stag party or family get-together. Step into the shoes of one of the flamboyant characters and try to expose the perpetrator of a double murder on board a Boeing 747!

Duration

Depending on how quickly the group plays and eats, the Flight Murder Mystery Game takes three to three-and-a-half hours on average. This includes breaks and time for eating.

The story

Mile High Airlines flight MV7700 takes off from Singapore Airport headed for Sydney. Seated in business class are the German footballer Günther Schwalbe, pop diva Lady Bla Bla, Schlager singer Rudi Nachbar, jaded porn star Lola Luxemburg and elderly detective writer Miss Marbles.

Some time after take-off, Captain Dick van Bill suddenly becomes unwell and dies on the spot. Air Marshall Hector Lector alias Inspector Hector Lector identifies symptoms of poisoning and immediately instigates a murder investigation. 'Before we land, I'll have the murderer!', he promises. But less than hour later, Inspector Hector Lector dies too, in exactly the same way as Captain Dick van Bill. Double murder on board! Hoping to solve the mystery, detective writer Miss Marbles begins to interrogate the other passengers. You won't believe what happens next!

Hosting the game

Flight Murder Mystery Game is presented by one or more game hosts from Dinerspel.nl. They keep the game on track and do their best to create a fun atmosphere. Although they are not actors or comedians, our game hosts enthusiastically instruct, motivate and amuse the players. In order to get the most out of the game, the group must be prepared to actively participate. But that speaks for itself.

Introduction, three rounds of play and a finale

Flight Murder Mystery Game consists of an introduction, three rounds of play, the solution to the murder mystery and a dazzling finale. The game deals with all the aspects of a real murder inquiry: motives, alibis, clues and evidence.

Whodunnit?

For Flight Murder Mystery Game, we chose to keep the identity of the perpetrator a secret from all the players to the very end. Even those playing the role of the murderer don't know the full facts themselves, so they can also join in the investigation.

Always played centrally

Flight Murder Mystery Game is always played centrally with all the participants. Even for larger groups where several people play the same role, the story is acted out so it is visible to everyone and all the players are involved in the game. The group is never split up into "little islands" who play their own game.

Game booklets

Before the game starts, all the players are given an ingenious game booklet that includes the script and scratch cards. Acting is a big word, but all the players are assigned a character/role and act out their own part of the script. As murder mysteries are often solved on the basis of subtle details, the script is read out word for word. The story and the facts are fixed and can't be changed or influenced by the players. For each round of play, the players can use the scratch cards to keep track of which suspect they think is the most likely perpetrator. This gives extra pointers. The players who have pointed to the correct perpetrator in the most rounds are the winners of the game.

Audio script

Alongside the game booklets, an audio script tells a large part of the story in the Flight Murder Mystery Game. Rather like a modern radio play, you hear voices, music and sound effects through the speakers. Besides the introduction and the solution to the mystery, you also hear the greatest hits of the two artists among the suspects. This could turn into a big party!

Dressing up

If they wish, players can dress up in character. Of course, this is not mandatory, although it does fit the whole idea of a murder mystery. Players who want to dress up should provide their own clothing and accessories, or the organiser can arrange costumes.

Digital invitation for all players

As the organiser of Flight Murder Mystery Game, you can do your own casting if you wish. When you book, you receive special invitations that give detailed descriptions of the characters and clothing tips. If you assign a role to everyone and send them an invitation a few days beforehand, it can turn the event into a hilarious fancy dress party, guaranteeing some unique photo opportunities!

Spicy humour

As you may know, Dutch humour can sometimes be rather spicy. Besides its subtle and sharp-edged humour, Flight Murder Mystery Game also has its saucy moments and jokes that some people might interpret as rather politically incorrect, although it is never explicitly rude. For groups of younger players or people with strict codes of propriety, we therefore recommend our English-spoken Food&Fun Culi Game. We advise a minimum age of 16 for taking part in Flight Murder Mystery Game.

A dinner game involves dinner!

The rounds of play are interspersed with the courses of a dinner, usually comprising a starter, main course and dessert. The culinary part of the game must be arranged directly with the location. In conjunction with the location, the game host tries to alternate the rounds of play with the courses of the dinner as smoothly as possible. Special dietary requirements can always be catered for. It's also possible to combine Flight Murder Mystery Game with a lunch or high tea. The menus and prices quoted on our websites are examples and are subject to change.

Your own room

Flight Murder Mystery Game always takes place in a room reserved especially for your group.
